

South East Chancel Window

South East chancel window in memory of William and Thomas Heseltine. A farming family who lived in Worlaby in the 19th century. All the ancient stained glass disappeared when the chancel was pulled down and re-built under the direction of the then patron John Webb in 1837.