

Stained Glass Window

South East chancel window in memory of William and Thomas Heseltine. A farming family who lived in Worlaby in the 19th century. All the ancient stained glass disappeared when the chancel was pulled down and rebuilt under the direction of the then patron John Webb in 1837.